Large-Scale Live Event Streaming:

iV8 2012 besides supporting 3gPP, MPEG, MOV, FLV, WIN, Silverlight, and Real provides industry standard RTMP. Real Time Media Protocol is the protocol the Adobe Flash Media Server uses to communicate with the user's computer. The RTMP connection is established when the user views FMS enabled content within their web browser. The content can be hosted anywhere (including your desktop) because the connection to FMS happens directly between the user's machine and the Flash Media Server. And if you decide RTMFP, then the protocol developed especially for peer-assisted networking allows an initial server-to-client transmission and efficiently switches to client-to-client transmissions for ultra-low latency and bandwidth cost savings.
